I started a letter this morning, telling all about Southern night, which was wonderful, but I've had no time to finish it, so I'll go on to-morrow. I had a fine time to-day in town. We had luncheon, did various errands and came out in time for the political speakers.

To-morrow I suppose I have to go to church with the senior, Mary Hodge, who asked me several weeks ago. And there's a tea in the afternoon. But I'll make time for a long letter.

Saturday night

[Nov 4, 1915]

I started a letter this morning, telling all about Eastern Hope, which was wonderful, but I've had no time to finish it, so I'll go on to-morrow. I had a fine time to-day in town. The last teacher, did receive money and gave out in time for the political speaker. To-morrow I suppose I have to go to church with the senior, Mary Hoops, who asked me several weeks ago. And there's a lot in the afternoon. But I'll make time for a long letter to the folks at home.
